Tiger Eye Lace Scarf

Materials: 1 sk Mountain Colors Bearfoot (350 yards, 6-7st/in)
US 5 needles

Notes: Any fingering or sportweight yarn would work. The appearance of the tiger eyes is very dependent upon blocking so a wool or wool blend is recommended. Bearfoot has a light mohair halo that didn't obscure the design at all. Obviously you could also use laceweight with whatever needle works for you.

The version shown was worked from the ends and then grafted together for symmetry. You could also knit from just one end until the desired length or use a three-needle bind off if preferred.

Approx. finished size: 6 x 72" (my version lengthened by nearly 20% during blocking, growing from 60 to 72")

Panel of 25 sts.
Chart does not include border sts.

Cast on 31 sts and work 4 rows of garter st.
Maintain 3 edge/border sts on either side in garter st throughout.
Row 1 (WS) and all wrong side rows except 3: purl.
Work the chart until the desired length, ending with row 16.

Non-grafted version: After working between  until the desired length, work 4 rows of garter st. Bind off, weave in ends, wet block.

Grafted version: Work between  until half the desired length and ending with row 1[a]. Place stitches on holder and break yarn. Work the other half as above, leaving enough yarn for grafting or binding off.
Using Kitchener stitch, graft the two ends together (or use a three-needle bind off). Weave in ends and wet block.

[a]Note: you could end each half on row 16 but when joining the two halves together, you would encounter yarnovers.
